Harbinger Systems named among 2012 Global Services Top 100 Outsourcing Service Providers

Harbinger Systems recognized as leading outsourcing service providers based on performance and leadership, customer maturity, breadth of services offered and global delivery capabilities

PUNE, INDIA; REDMOND, WA, SEPTEMBER 25, 2012:

Harbinger Systems, a global company providing software technology services, today announced that it has been ranked among Top 100 global outsourcing companies in the recently published ranking by Global Services Media and NeoGroup.

"We thank Global Services for this appreciation. As we celebrate this prestigious moment, we owe our success to some of the pathbreaking work that our team has done in the area of eLearning and Publishing domains. We are proud that our technology solutions have made a difference to our customers business," says Shrikant Pattathil, Executive Vice President, at Harbinger Systems. This recognition comes close on heels with Harbinger being recognized in Global Outsourcing Top 100 companies by International Association of Outsourcing Professionals.

"The global service provider landscape is increasingly getting complex; but buyers are looking at vendors with scale, skill, or both in delivering business outcomes and not cost-savings alone. The companies on the Global Services 100 list have demonstrated their ability to deliver complex solutions and services, manage global customers, and sustain successful financial performance," says Ed Nair, Editor, Global Services.

The Global Services (GS) 100, now in its seventh year, is a tool for buyers of business and technology services to identify and select the right vendor. The GS 100 study is done under the guidance of Neogroup, a globalization advisory firm. Service providers opt-in to participate in the study that is conducted online. The GS100 analytical model is based on four key criteria: performance and leadership, quality and maturity of customers, breadth of services offered, and spread of global delivery capabilities.
