Harbinger Announces Strategic Technology Partnership with VEDX Solutions

Harbinger Systems, a leading technology provider in EdTech space becomes VEDX’s Associated Vendor for integrating VR applications with conventional LMSs. This will help in seamless delivery of virtual learning experiences and will also enable tracking of learning activities and student outcomes.

August 06, 2021

Harbinger Systems, a global technology services company and a part of the Harbinger Group of companies, announced a strategic partnership with the leading global EdTech firm VEDX Solutions. As part of the partnership, Harbinger will help VEDX deliver engaging and interactive Virtual Reality-based learning experiences for education and skilling programs. Harbinger will be VEDX’s Associated Vendor for integrating VR applications with conventional Learning Management Systems and providing technical capabilities to help measure student outcomes.

VEDX designs and creates customized solution packages for educational institutions by incorporating the newest immersive technologies into their teaching and training programs. Harbinger’s software integration and product engineering expertise, coupled with strong instructional and visual designing capabilities, will help VEDX deliver transformational virtual education to their growing ecosystem of education industry customers and partners. The companies envision that the partnership will make the learning journey more engaging and relevant, thereby creating opportunities to impart skills faster to meet the demands of a post-millennial job market.

“VEDX has built an enviable reputation of leading and transforming education through new-age immersive technologies. We at Harbinger are passionate about the limitless possibilities of making this happen by harnessing our three decades of product engineering and content development expertise. As educational institutes look forward to actively engage and serve the aspirations of the future generations in a largely virtual ecosystem, the Harbinger-VEDX partnership will help them forge a path forward,” said Shrikant Pattathil, President of Harbinger Systems.

“We at VEDX Solutions are committed to improving educational engagement through immersive learning experiences. To do this, the learning objectives and assessment of those experiences need to be a part of the process and we believe Harbinger has the tools and experience to help us accomplish this”, said Jay Schnoor, CEO and Founder VedX Solutions Inc.
